FOUR POWER PACIFIC TREATY IS ADOPTED

FIRST RESULT OF ARMS CONFERENCE FOR WORLD PEACE

WAS APPROVED YESTERDAY BY REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FOUR BIG POWERS

TAKES THE PLACE OF ANGLO-JAP ALLIANCE—LASTS FOR TEN YEARS

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 10—The arms conference today approved the comprehensive and sweeping program for preserving the peace of the Pacific and the far east.

The nine powers in the conference gave general approval to a real quadruple Pacific agreement of the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France, which scraps the Anglo-Japanese jalliance. The actual signing of the new agreement is expected shortly.

The United States, Senator Lodge stated, although having approved the pact, will withhold its formal signature until the Yap question is settled, which probably will be very soon.

The treaty will not be submitted to the senate until after close of the arms conference, Senator Lodge said. Neither will there be any form of ceremony accompanying the signing of the pact. To all intents and purposes, it was made clear, it has been signed now.

Continental Hall, Washington, Dec. 10—The arms conference today announced to the world its first big success.

Senator Lodge presented the quadruple treaty between the United States, the British Empire, France and Japan, for the preservation of the peace of the Pacific. It contains four main provisions—

1. The powers agree to respect their rights in relations to their insular possessions and insular domains in the region of the Pacific ocean. If any dispute arises, the powers agree to submit to a joint conference.

2. If the rights of any power are threatened by the aggressive action of another, the powers agree to communicate fully and frankly in order to arrive at an understanding as the most efficient measure to be taken jointly or separately to meet the exigences of the particular situation.

3. The agreement is to be in force for 10 years from the time it shall take effect, and to continue in force subject to the right of any power to terminate it upon twelve months' notice.

4. The agreement is to be ratified as soon as possible in accordance with the constitutional methods of the various powers, and is to take effect upon the ratifications in Washington.

Upon such ratification the Anglo-Japanese alliance is terminated.

Senator Lodge presented the treaty shortly after the conference opened, stating it was approved yesterday.

The conference also adopted officially the Root four points resolution which is called a plank for the protection of Chinese sovereignty.

Some observers prophesied to see another Article Ten of the League of Nations in Article Two of the Pacific treaty. Article Ten, which defeated the league in this country, pledged all the members of the league to protect the territorial integrity of each of the member states.

This article provides that if the rights of any of the four powers be "threatened by aggressive action of any other power," the four powers shall communicate with one another "to arrive at an understanding as to the most efficient measure to be taken jointly or separately to meet the exigencies of the particular situation."

Hughes opened the session by reporting "the most satisfactory progress in the committee on Pacific and far eastern questions." The first subject considered, he said, was China. Most important declarations are made by the powers regarding the open door and China's sovereignty, independence and administrative integrity, he said.

He told of the adopting of the Root four points regarding China and suggested that the resolution embodying these points already adopted by the whole conference sitting as a far eastern committee was confirmed and formally adopted by the plenary session.

Senator Lodge opened the two American reservations to the treaty.

The first declared that the signing of the treaty by the United States is simply to the make of a conference with Japan concerning the island of Yap the subject of bitter controversy during the consideration of the Versailles treaty in the senate and what is termed the Mandated Islands in the Pacific, north of Equato.

Lodge added that negotiations on those matters are almost concluded. The two reservations to the four points are that the treaty does not affect questions exclusively within the domestic jurisdiction of the respective powers. This is understood to make clear that the treaty does not effect the islands of Hawaii, considered by the United States as part of its coast defense.

Lodge made it plain that there is no provision of force in the new treaty. No military or naval sanction lurks anywhere in the background or under cover of these plain and direct clauses, declared the senator.

"The surest way to prevent war is to remove the cause of war," continued Lodge. "This treaty is an attempt to remove causes of war over a great area of the globe's surface, by relying on the good faith and honest intentions of the nations which sign the treaty, solving all differences thru the process of diplomacy and joint consideration and conciliation."

After the speech of Senator Lodge had been translated, he called on Viviana.

"Without reservation or hesitation," Viviani said, "I subscribe in the name of the French government to what Senator Lodge has said."

The venerable Senator Lodge resurrected for a moment at the conclusion of his speech the horrors of the late war, and continued:

"If the nations at heart, or are still in the inmost recesses of their consciousness planning or dwelling on a coming war and longing for conquest, no treaties or pact and no alliances can still them; but if, as I firmly hope, the world has learned the frightful lesson from the awulness of the great war of 1914, then our surest appeal in order to prevent war in the future must be to beget the sympathy, the reason, and the highest morals of mankind. Such an appeal we made today by agreement among the four great nations."

When Lodge finished reading the fourth article of the treaty providing for scrapping of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, applause broke out from both galleries and was taken up by spectators in the hall.

Again when Lodge explained that nothing in the treaty called for use of force or bound the nations to go to war, there was further applause.

It was clear the senator was speaking through the conference to the senate.

Viviani, in replying for France, laid emphasis upon the vital points of the treaty. He pointed out that the right of each power are to be respected, and that disputes would be submitted to a conference before other action is taken. The French statesman declared he was authorized to give France's consent to the decision of the conference.

The powers represented at Washington, Viviani said, had joined together to throw down autocracy and bring out justice; that they would not now fail to act together for peace. Then after ratifications are exchanged, France will assume all her obligations just as she will claim all her rights, he said. Viviani stressed the moral value of the proposed treaty. "I think I can say that this conference has sureiy succeeded. For the four nations to put their heads together was sufficient guarantee of the peace of the world," he said.

Then a resolution was adopted by the conference in this manner:

After outlining what it contained, Hughes said: "I will now put the question before the powers. The United States accepts."

After all other powers were called alphabetically and responded in turn, and Hughes after the Portugese delegation had accepted, said one word, "Adopted."

U. S. Will Propose Two Reservations.

Washington, Dec. 10—The United States will propose two reservations to the quadruple Pacific treaty officially announced today, it was learned on highest authority before the conference met.

One will deal with the isolation of Yap and the other with domestic questions which is said to involve Hawaii.

OFFICIALS DOUBT STORY OF KILLING OF TOM SLAUGHTER

WHOSE DEATH WAS ANNOUNCED BY J. C. HOWARD WHO ESCAPED WITH HIM

(By United Press.)

Little Rock, Dec. 10—The body of Tom Slaughter, notorious bandit and bank robber of the west, was found in the wilderness near Benton today, according to a report received here this afternoon.

Little Rock, Ark.—After a futile all night search, officials of the state penitentiary here today were inclined to doubt the story of J. C. Howard, convict, that said he killed Slaughter, notorious bandit, who captured the jail and escaped with a half dozen prisoners early yesterday.

Parties hunting the woods where Howard, who was helped to liberty by Slaughter, claimed he killed the desperado late yesterday, but found no trace of Slaughter nor that of the negro convict who Howard said fell beside Slaughter. Prison officials feared that Howard's tale is only another Slaughter trick.

Howard, with Jim Wells and Clifton Taylor, negro members of the Slaughter party, surrendered last night at the home of Steve Armuson, a farmer near Benton. The two negroes corroborated Howard's story—that he shot Slaughter in the back and then fired two more shots into his body. J. Prow this morning said that during the trip from the mountains about 14 miles from here he said: "My intention from the first was to kill Slaughter. That was my only idea in my plan for escape."

'WILD BILL' HART WAS VERY WILD

KNOCKED OUT IN SECOND ROUND, BEMIDJI BUSHER BATTLES HELPERS

"WHO LET IN WILD ANIMALS?" SAID BILL, CLIMBING THE CORNER POST

(By United Press.)

Minneapolis, Dec. 10—Many a boxer has been knocked out, but none so much as "Wild Bill" Hart, Bemidji heavyweight.

Ed. Brady, of Mattwan, imported by Promoter "Billy" B. Hoke as a "rank busher," turned the trick and did it well before the biggest crowd of men Minneapolis has turned out in years.

Hart went down in the second round. When they picked him up he started battling with his helpers.

The yelling of the crowd deceived him, and he wanted to know who let in the wild animals. "Help! Help!" he cried, and tried to climb the corner post. An hour later in the dressing room he was still out, and wanted to know who he fought and why.

Morris Schlaifer, of Omaha, defeated Jack Perry, of Pittsburgh, in a headliner.

Al VanRyan, of St. Paul, scored a technical knockout of Bill Stearns, of Minneapolis, and Norman Edison had a shade over Jack Shuman after six rounds.

RAIL BOARD DRAFTS WAY WORKER RULES

REVISED REGULATIONS, TO BE PROMULGATED DEC. 14, WILL BE EFFECTIVE DEC. 16

Chicago, Dec. 10—Revised rules governing working conditions of railway maintenance of way workmen will be promulgated Dec. 14, to become effective Dec. 16, it was announced by the United States railroad labor board yesterday.

Due to the fact that many rules had already been agreed upon between the railroads and the employees the board has made rapid progress in constructing rules over which a dispute had arisen. In a majority of cases, not more than half a dozen rules were in dispute. On a number of roads where only a few rules were in controversy and these rules had been agreed upon by a majority of roads, the board referred the rules back to the road, taking the position that if a majority of roads could agree upon a rule other carriers ought to be able to reach an agreement with their employees also.

The board's new rules will replace those of the maintenance of way national agreement, made under federal control, except in the cases of rules agreed to between the carriers and their men. Such rules, which are in the majority, will of course be effective on the roads where agreed upon.

Completion of the maintenance of way rules will clear the board's docket of lal rule cases pending, leaving it free to take up wage adjustment cases as soon as they are filed.

Muscle Shoals Country Prepares For Big Boom

(By United Press.)

Florence, Ala., Dec. 10.—Living the most romantic industrial drama in American history, Florence, Sheffield and Tuscumbia, Ala., stand today ready to fulfill their destiny.

It is these three cities, with an aggregate population of approximately 20,000, who are in the midst of Henry Ford's proposal to develop on a gigantic scale, the government nitrate plant and Wilson dam, the greatest hydro-electric reservoir on the North American continent.

It is these three little cities and their present residents who will benefit quickets and most from the acceptance of the Ford bid. Geographically, the situation is rather unique. The Tennessee river here flows almost due west. At the foot of Muscle Shoals, and by shoals is meant merely a rocky upthrust in the bed of the river where the stream cuts its way down 130 feet in 16 miles, is the city of Florence. It is on the north bank.

Abutting on Florence city limits is the north end of the Wilson dam and the government reservation, which is the center of the Ford proposal.

Four and one-half miles west of Florence and on the south bank of the stream stands Sheffield. Between Sheffield and Florence, partly in both, is Nitrate plant No. 2.

Two miles southwest of Sheffield and one mile off the river is Tuscumbia. Opposite Tuscumbia on the river is Nitrate plant No. 1. The three towns are connected by railroads, one free bridge and an electric interurban car line.

A movement is already on foot to merge the three towns under a single government and enlarge the incorporated area, now about 15 square miles, to 20 or 25.

Problems confronting the people here on the eve of the expansion that is expected overnight with the formal announcement of acceptance of the Ford bid, naturally fall into these lines:

Housing the sudden influx.

Preventing profiteering.

Expansion of public utilities.

Curbing insofar as possible speculation, of which there has been very little so far.

Probably the greatest point of interest to the outsider coming into the stage where Ford will play his mighty industrial drama is:

"What is the reaction of the people here?"

And the answer is that there is very little visible reaction, an entire absence of that hysteria of those who see riches in their grasp.

Tri-cities, as the three towns are known collectively, explain this by pointing to 1918 and the bitter awakening when the work was stopped on the nitrate plant. People here are still incredulous. They say to one another: "It is too good to be true."

The Tri-Cities had a better awakening in 1919 when the pay rolls on the nitrate plant projects melted away and the 20,000 workmen melted away. Tri-Cities had thought this would be permanent. Hence they are loath to accept good news.

The most acute problem will, of course, be that of housing. Business men here estimate that within 60 days after the formal acceptance of the Ford offer there will be an influx of 60,000 people here. The ten lumber firms are prepared to furnish lumber and material for unlimited construction. Conservative estimates are that within six weeks from any given date, substantial six-room houses could be completed at the rate of 50 or more a week.

This rests largely on the matter of labor supply. The lumber is available on short notice; so is the hardware. There is ample vacant property within short distances of the business center available.

In 1918, at the height of war work, people slept in attics, cellars, garages, tents, anywhere to be out of shelter. There was even a standard charge of 50 cents for the privilege of sleeping all night in an office chair.

Ford will inherit from the government facilities for caring for at least 15,000 people. These are permanent and semi-permanent structures on the various reservations. They had just been completed in 1918 when the Armistice was signed and did not benefit.

MAN CONFESSES CONSPIRACY BLOW UP ARMOUR PLANT

CONFESSION COVERS 20 PAGES AND IMPLICATES TWO ALLEGED OFFICIALS

(By United Press.)

St. Paul, Dec. 10.—Chief of Police Henry Crepeau today made public an alleged confession of C. F. Duball respecting a reported conspiracy to blow up the power plant of the Armour packing plant of South St. Paul a week ago. His confession covered twenty closely typewritten pages implicating two alleged packing plant officials and a member of the South St. Paul police force. Duball said these people tried to get him to induce the South St. Paul union leaders to hire him to blow up the power plant.

W. O. White, general manager of the Armour plant, said the company employed no such officials as Duball named in his confession.

According to Duball, a mysterious man telephoned J. P. McCoy, secretary of the union, on Dec. 3rd, and told him Duball would blow up the South St. Paul plant for a small consideration.

The mysterious man told McCoy to get in touch with Duball.. McCoy, however, decided it was a frameup and went to Duball to get more information. Duball told him, according to the confession, that he would take $10,000 advance money to use in buying explosives and $500 when the job was done. Crepeau said McCoy came to him and exposed the alleged plot.

HARDING FAVORS SOLDIERS BONUS AT THIS SESSION

WANTS IT WORKED OUT IN CONNECTION WITH COLLECTION OF FOREIGN DEBT

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 10.—President Harding is in favor of a soldier bonus at this session of congress when the payments can be worked out in connection with the refunding of the foreign debt, it was learned today.

Harding's stand on the bonus was revealed to three members of the house who recently called at the White House.

He will not only publicly endorse the bonus, but will aid in getting it speedily enacted.

Harding will be ready for congress to pass the bonus bill as soon as the collection of $3,500,000,000 or $4,000,000,000 of the $11,000,000,000 debt is made certain. This further explains Harding's request to the senate for quick action on the bill creating a commission of five men by the President to handle the foreign debt refunding. If this committee can be set to work soon it is believed it can switch the debt into such shape that the bonus bill can be passed shortly after the holidays.

Harding's plans, it is said, is to replace the shaky hold the United States now has by reliable notes as collateral on which to float the bonus bill issue.

'WILD BILL' HART WAS VERY WILD

KNOCKED OUT IN SECOND ROUND, BEMIDJI BUSHER BATTLES HELPERS

"WHO LET IN WILD ANIMALS?" SAID BILL, CLIMBING THE CORNER POST

(By United Press.)

Minneapolis, Dec. 10—Many a boxer has been knocked out, but none so much as "Wild Bill" Hart, Bemidji heavyweight.

Ed. Brady, of Mattwan, imported by Promoter "Billy" B. Hoke as a "rank busher," turned the trick and did it well before the biggest crowd of men Minneapolis has turned out in years.

Hart went down in the second round. When they picked him up he started battling with his helpers.

The yelling of the crowd deceived him, and he wanted to know who let in the wild animals. "Help! Help!" he cried, and tried to climb the corner post. An hour later in the dressing room he was still out, and wanted to know who he fought and why.

Morris Schlaifer, of Omaha, defeated Jack Perry, of Pittsburgh, in a headliner.

Al VanRyan, of St. Paul, scored a technical knockout of Bill Stearns, of Minneapolis, and Norman Edison had a shade over Jack Shuman after six rounds.

RAIL BOARD DRAFTS WAY WORKER RULES

REVISED REGULATIONS, TO BE PROMULGATED DEC. 14, WILL BE EFFECTIVE DEC. 16

Chicago, Dec. 10—Revised rules governing working conditions of railway maintenance of way workmen will be promulgated Dec. 14, to become effective Dec. 16, it was announced by the United States railroad labor board yesterday.

Due to the fact that many rules had already been agreed upon between the railroads and the employees the board has made rapid progress in constructing rules over which a dispute had arisen. In a majority of cases, not more than half a dozen rules were in dispute. On a number of roads where only a few rules were in controversy and these rules had been agreed upon by a majority of roads, the board referred the rules back to the road, taking the position that if a majority of roads could agree upon a rule other carriers ought to be able to reach an agreement with their employees also.

The board's new rules will replace those of the maintenance of way national agreement, made under federal control, except in the cases of rules agreed to between the carriers and their men. Such rules, which are in the majority, will of course be effective on the roads where agreed upon.

Completion of the maintenance of way rules will clear the board's docket of lal rule cases pending, leaving it free to take up wage adjustment cases as soon as they are filed.

Muscle Shoals Country Prepares For Big Boom

(By United Press.)

Florence, Ala., Dec. 10.—Living the most romantic industrial drama in American history, Florence, Sheffield and Tuscumbia, Ala., stand today ready to fulfill their destiny.

It is these three cities, with an aggregate population of approximately 20,000, who are in the midst of Henry Ford's proposal to develop on a gigantic scale, the government nitrate plant and Wilson dam, the greatest hydro-electric reservoir on the North American continent.

It is these three little cities and their present residents who will benefit quickets and most from the acceptance of the Ford bid. Geographically, the situation is rather unique. The Tennessee river here flows almost due west. At the foot of Muscle Shoals, and by shoals is meant merely a rocky upthrust in the bed of the river where the stream cuts its way down 130 feet in 16 miles, is the city of Florence. It is on the north bank.

Abutting on Florence city limits is the north end of the Wilson dam and the government reservation, which is the center of the Ford proposal.

Four and one-half miles west of Florence and on the south bank of the stream stands Sheffield. Between Sheffield and Florence, partly in both, is Nitrate plant No. 2.

Two miles southwest of Sheffield and one mile off the river is Tuscumbia. Opposite Tuscumbia on the river is Nitrate plant No. 1. The three towns are connected by railroads, one free bridge and an electric interurban car line.

A movement is already on foot to merge the three towns under a single government and enlarge the incorporated area, now about 15 square miles, to 20 or 25.

Problems confronting the people here on the eve of the expansion that is expected overnight with the formal announcement of acceptance of the Ford bid, naturally fall into these lines:

Housing the sudden influx.
Preventing profiteering.
Expansion of public utilities.
Curbing insofar as possible speculation, of which there has been very little so far.

Probably the greatest point of interest to the outsider coming into the stage where Ford will play his mighty industrial drama is:

"What is the reaction of the people here?"

And the answer is that there is very little visible reaction, an entire absence of that hysteria of those who see riches in their grasp.

Tri-cities, as the three towns are known collectively, explain this by pointing to 1918 and the bitter awakening when the work was stopped on the nitrate plant. People here are still incredulous. They say to one another: "It is too good to be true."

The Tri-Cities had a better awakening in 1919 when the pay rolls on the nitrate plant projects melted away and the 20,000 workmen melted away. Tri-Cities had thought this would be permanent. Hence they are loath to accept good news.

The most acute problem will, of course, be that of housing. Business men here estimate that within 60 days after the formal acceptance of the Ford offer there will be an influx of 60,000 people here. The ten lumber firms are prepared to furnish lumber and material for unlimited construction. Conservative estimates are that within six weeks from any given date, substantial six-room houses could be completed at the rate of 50 or more a week.

This rests largely on the matter of labor supply. The lumber is available on short notice; so is the hardware. There is ample vacant property within short distances of the business center available.

In 1918, at the height of war work, people slept in attics, cellars, garages, tents, anywhere to be out of shelter. There was even a standard charge of 50 cents for the privilege of sleeping all night in an office chair.

Ford will inherit from the government facilities for caring for at least 15,000 people. These are permanent and semi-permanent structures on the various reservations. They had just been completed in 1918 when the Armistice was signed and did not benefit.

MAN CONFESSES CONSPIRACY BLOW UP ARMOUR PLANT

CONFESSION COVERS 20 PAGES AND IMPLICATES TWO ALLEGED OFFICIALS

(By United Press.)

St. Paul, Dec. 10.—Chief of Police Henry Crepeau today made public an alleged confession of C. F. Dubail respecting a reported conspiracy to blow up the power plant of the Armour packing plant of South St. Paul a week ago. His confession covered twenty closely typewritten pages implicating two alleged packing plant officials and a member of the South St Paul police force. Dubail said these people tried to get him to induce the South St. Paul union leaders to hire him to blow up the power plant.

W. O. White, general manager of the Armour plant, said the company employed no such officials as Dubail named in his confession.

According to Dubail, a mysterious man telephoned J. P. McCoy, secretary of the union, on Dec. 3rd, and told him Dubail would blow up the South St. Paul plant for a small consideration.

The mysterious man told McCoy to get in touch with Dubail. McCoy, however, decided it was a frameup and went to Dubail to get more information. Dubail told him, according to the confession, that he would take $10,000 advance money to use in buying explosives and $500 when the job was done. Crepeau said McCoy came to him and exposed the alleged plot.

HARDING FAVORS SOLDIERS BONUS AT THIS SESSION

WANTS IT WORKED OUT IN CONNECTION WITH COLLECTION OF FOREIGN DEBT

(By United Press.)

Washington, Dec. 10.—President Harding is in favor of a soldier bonus at this session of congress when the payments can be worked out in connection with the refunding of the foreign debt, it was learned today.

Harding's stand on the bonus was revealed to three members of the house who recently called at the White House.

He will not only publicly endorse the bonus, but will aid in getting it speedily enacted.

Harding will be ready for congress to pass the bonus bill as soon as the collection of $3,500,000,000 or $4,000,000,000 of the $11,000,000,000 debt is made certain. This further explains Harding's request to the senate for quick action on the bill creating a commission of five men by the President to handle the foreign debt refunding. If this committee can be set to work soon it is believed it can switch the debt into such shape that the bonus bill can be passed shortly after the holidays.

Harding's plans, it is said, is to replace the shaky hold the United States now has by reliable notes as collateral on which to float the bonus bill issue.

If the "Retired Business Man" who sent a letter to the Dispatch offering $5.00 reward for the best Christmas display window, will send us his name, so as to make the offer authentic, we will gladly give the matter publicity.

Those who are interested in various phases of the general subject of education will want to hear the speakers at the First Congregational church on Sunday evening. Prof. W. C. Cobb, Judge Walter F. "TOTE FAIR" WITH RAILROADS

It is quite evident that the transportation act is either very generally misunderstood or purposely misconstrued, as some misstatements in regard to the act are constantly repeated by men who should know better. This is often done maliciously to create prejudice.

One of the common misstatements is that the standard return on railroad investment is a guaranteed profit, the impression conveyed being that any deficit is to be made good out of the public treasury. The Interstate Commerce Commission is required to fix rates which in its judgment will yield the fixed return under efficient, economical management, but if its judgment should prove at fault and the actual returns should fall short, the road is simply out the amount of the shortage. The Commission aimed to allow 6 per cent under the rate increase effective Aug. 26, 1920, but in the first eight months of 1921 the railroads earned only 2.6 per cent. Of course, as the government guaranteed nothing, it did not make good the difference between 2.6 and 6 per cent.

We also hear frequent references to earnings on "watered stock." As a plain matter of fact the Interstate Commerce Commission does not base its calculations on the stock and bonds of the railroads, but on its own valuation of the property actually used for railroad purposes. In deciding on the advance last year, it adopted a valuation about two billion dollars less than that made by the railroads, thus squeezing out the water. The talk about "watered stock" is talk—and nothing more.

There is a good deal of "bunk" in the talk about the railroads. It is a very common thing, by appeals to prejudice, to claim that old abuses long since abolished still prevail, and to presume on popular ignorance by misrepresentating the law. The examples given should put the people on their guard against similar statements. Why not "tote fair" with the railroads, which have done so much to develop our country?

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA

The result of the general election in Canada on Tuesday may prove of considerable importance to this country. Although the returns were still incomplete at the time of writing this article, it was apparent that for the first time in ten years Canda had elected a parliament with a majority favoring reciprocity with the United States, dispatches from Ottawa stated.

This may mean much to the United States for the reason that Canada, like Australia, discriminates against American goods, not only by the levying of tariffs, indeed, but also by preferential duties on imports from England. In addition to the tariff against American imports, there are in Canada two other provisions which operate against American goods. One is known as the "anti-dumping provision," which requires that the selling price of commodities imported in Canada shall not be more than 5 per cent less than the market value of the commodity in the country from which the imports come. The other gives a 30 per cent preference to imports from the United Kingdom. The result of this is obvious. American manufacturers who enter Canada must pay twice as much tariff as their British competitors, but they are not allowed to offset this by reducing the price of their goods more than 5 per cent under what they sell for in the United States.

With a policy of reciprocity, however, there is a chance for leveling these inequalities by mutual tariff concessions on the part of both the United States and Canada.

SPECIAL SESSIONS COMPARED

The leaders of the Republican party seem perfectly willing to compare the work of the special session of the Republican Congress of 1921 with the work of the special session of the Democratic Congress of 1913. The chief work of the session of 1913 was the enactment of a Democratic tariff law which threw our markets open to the foreign producer with the result that a favorable trade balance was transformed into an unfavorable balance. We began importing more than we exported, thus closing American mills and sending workmen to the breadlines.

Everybody knows that the work of the 1913 session was destructive and would have been disastrous if the war had not broken out and shut off imports at the same time that it created a new market for our goods. There were eight years of Democratic destructiveness—chiefly along the line of waste and unsound economics. This condition has been reversed by the special session of 1921, as will be amply demonstrated within a few months. Liberty bonds, which reflect the national credit, were quoted at only 85 cents a few months ago, and are now selling above par.

CAN WE LOOK WITHOUT BLUSHING

Editor Capper's Weekly—

An ex-service man who served a year overseas said to me recently: "I had a nice little start in business when my draft call came in 1917. Thru peculiar circumstances I lost every dollar I had in the world in closing out my business, in fact I did not quite break even. But I went willingly, gladly and served until long after the Armistice. And I'm thankful I did, for now when I shave I can look myself in the face without blushing."

Can we stay-at-homes who got big profits or high wages look these soldier boys in the face and tell them that a dollar a day is enough for their time and financial losses? And they paid one-fourth of that dollar to the government for an insurance policy to cover the risk of their occupation. Let's get busy and tell Congress to pass that Compensation Bill "without further equivocation or delay" so that we can look ourselves in the face without blushing when we shave and comb our hair.

THAT ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED

It is becoming more apparent every day that much of the talk of an army of unemployed was nothing but "bunk." Many farmers complain that they were unable to get men to husk corn—idle men refused the jobs offered. In practically all the cities there is a great scarcity of houses because buliders cannot afford to pay the wages demanded and rents stay up because of the scarcity. There are, no doubt, many unemployed, as there always are, but now that the period of hysterical writing about it has ended, we are getting a more normal view of the facts. The plain truth seems to be that a large percentage of the so-called army of unemployed could find work if they really wanted it.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

The country newspaper is one of the greatest agents for civilization in existence. It boosts for the home town and backs every legitimate enterprise. But it's repaid, in altogether too many cases, by a swift kick in the seat of the pants.—Worthington Globe.

But no red-blooded newspaper man cares a whoop for the kicks. If he is made of the right kind of stuff he will go to the mat with any of his critics or detractors. He may not always be right, but if he thinks he is right he should stand pat and fearlessly proclaim with Hamlet: "Let the galled jade wince, our withers are unwrong."—Fairmont Sentinel.

MONEY IN POULTRY

A farmer hauled a double wagon-box full of corn to market the other day, received the sum of $6 for the load. His wife rode beside him holding a basket containing twelve dozen eggs and she realized as much for the basket of eggs as her husband did for a whole load of corn. All of this goes to show that poultry is no longer a side issue on the farm, but comes right up alongside all the other sources of revenue.—New Richland Star.

The Ladies of First Congregational Church Served Splendid Banquet to Members and Contributors

BUILDING COMMITTEE REPORT

Improvements Have Cost $17,000, Said George D. LaBar and Presents Plan for Payment of Balance

The ladies of the First Congregational church are to be congratulated on the splendid banquet they served to the members of and contributors to the church who gathered at the tables to greet former pastors and hear the report of the building committee.

After those present had partaken of the good things of the table, Rev. Frederick Errington, pastor of the church, called upon Rev. R. A. Beard, D.D., or Fargo, North Dakota, who was the pastor of the Brainerd church when the building which has just been renovated was built in the year 1881.

Dr. Beard, whom the toastmaster had characterized as one of the strongest preachers of the northwest, won the attention of his audience and by a happy reference to two persons present caused the people to appreciate the fact that he is human.

He told of the way in which he was led to come to the northwest. A call had reached him from Brainerd just after he had graduated from Oberlin seminary, but Mrs. Beard and he were inclined to pass up that call. Soon ater he received a letter from Judge Follett—a long letter—in which the judge pointed out that the young man in the northwest might have much to do with shaping the civilization of this section of the United States. And, then, some time later, the call fell out of the pigeon-hole of his desk. He picked it up. Read it. And in a few hours the matter was decided.

Dr. Beard since his pastorate in Brainerd has spent 25 years of his life in Fargo where he has twice served as pastor of the church nd where for

AMUSEMENTS

Murphy and Walker Win a New Triumph

Manager Hilier of the Lyceum Theatre is to be congratulated in having secured for the local screen so substantial and pleasing an entertainment as is furnished in "Play Square," a Fox film, which opened its engagement there yesterday.

The photoplay serves to introduce two of filmdom's newest stars, Edna Murphy ad Johnnie Walker—talented youngsters who, in this, their second starring venture, romped away to a full-sized hit. The story, which was written by Jack Strumwasser, is an especially inspiring and elevating one. It is woven of far more substantial texture than the average screen love story, and is packed with live action and the most wholesome brand of sentiment. "Play Square" is being shown again tonight.

At Lyceum Sunday

William Collier as a butler in "The Servant Question," should mean a great deal to the discriminating theatre-goer, and the many patrons of the Lyceum theatre will doubtless be delighted to know that this is to be the attraction at this popular place of amusement Sunday afternoon and night.

While Mr. Collier is the big shining light of this screen comedy, just as he is the outstanding figure of every stage production he has appeared in, he has nevertheless surrounded himself with the best of talent in the supporting cast. Of great interest is the fact that the next prominent role in "The Servant Question" is enacted by William Collier, Jr., or "Buster," as he is more familiarly called, and observant spectators will affirm, after seeing the youngster work, that he is a veritable "chip off the old block."

All Star Vaudeville Tonight at the New Park

The first number on the vaudeville bill at the New Park Theatre for this week are Morse & Clark, two men who are musical entertainers of sterling worth. They have an offering which they term, "An Artistic Vocal Episode," wherein they delight the ear with harmony singing, one of the members accompanying the other on the piano during the act. Morse & Clark are two well built chaps with magnetic personalities and utilize these qualities with their remarkable voices in putting over their numbers.

The second act are the Garrison Sisters in a novelty posing act, featuring the most perfect girl in the world. This act will indeed be interesting as well as a rare novelty for very few women are perfect.

In the third act we have Walker & Brown, two original colored people who have proved one of the biggest comedy hits of the year. Their act consists of talking, singing and dancing that more than pleases, and a rare treat is certainly in store for our patrons during this act.

The fourth and last act consist of Mowatt and Lynch who are a duo of excellent club jugglers who have made this act more than a gymnasium feature. They are the leading club juggling team of the theatrical world, having played two consecutive years in the east at all leading vaudeville theatres, this being their initial trip to the west.

"A Private Scandal" Photo Feature With Vaudeville

The sophisticated persons who sit in theatres and loudly tell "how it is done" are likely to be fooled when they see "A Private Scandal," the latest Realart picture now at the New Park Theatre.

"Those tears are the bunk—they come out of a glycerine dropper," one can hear the doubters say as May McAvoy and Kathlyn Williams engage in a very emotional and lacrimose scene in this hectic Hector Turnbull story.

But they're wrong, for these two actresses spent one whole afternoon just dissolved in tears, real ones, which they worked themselves up to.

Many of the screen stars find it necessary to resort to the glycerine for their tears. "I sometimes wish it wasn't so easy for me to cry," says the petite Miss McAvoy. "It just plays havoc with one's makeup."

All is not tears, however, in "A Private Scandal," the grippingly dramatic story of a little French refugee in America. There's many a smile there, too.

Musical Comedy at New Park Tomorrow

Something that all Brainerd has been looking for, is at last coming to the New Park theatre in the form of a peppy musical comedy, with a bevy of pretty chorus girls, who have made the show, the huge success that it is today. The Band Box Revue has a wonderful world wide reputation as being one of the rarest, cleanest and peppiest bits of entertainment offered on the stage of today, pleasing both young and old with their selections of songs and dances.

Do not miss this special phase in amusement, as it is something that everyone will enjoy as well as remember. This show will play Brainerd only one day, Sunday, December 11th, but there will be three shows given, the matinee at 2:15, and two shows in the evening at 7 and 9 o'clock.

Palmer Orchestra Supreme will play at all three shows and the patrons are certainly offered a treat in the line of some new and peppy musical numbers.

"The Chicken in the Case"

"The Chicken in the Case" with Owen Moore is another of his delightful comedy characterizations will be the feature photoplay attraction at the New Park theatre next Monday and Tuesday and the patrons of this theatre who will attend on these dates may safely anticipate a merry time. The story is one that has been constructed for comedy purposes only, and it would not be strange if it achieved as great a vogue as did 'Charley's Aunt" some years ago. It's all about a young man, who, in order to secure an inheritance, pretends he is married; the wife of his pal, Percy Jones, being "the chicken in the case." Efforts of the young man to keep up the deception and the strenuous efforts of his Aunt Sarah, who thinks the young couple are becoming estranged through a bold interloper, who is really the young wife's own husband, create a series of comedy situations that would bring a smile to the stolid face of the Sphinx.

Victor Heerman both wrote the story and directed the picture, and it is asserted that he has surpassed his previous efforts with Mr. Moore's recent comedy hit "The Poor Simp."

Broncho Riding in New Buck Jones Picture

Buck Jones uses some unroken horses in his latest Fox picture, "Bar Nothin'," which comes to the Lyceum Theatre Monday and Tuesday. In one scene he manages to secure one of these and rides bareback to his destination. Jones, by the way, insisted on using an unbroken animal.

a number of years he was the president of Fargo college.

At the conclusion of Dr. Beard's address the toastmaster read a card received from Leon E. Lum, in which he sent his best wishes to Dr. Beard and to those who were present at the dedication of the church in 1889.

Rev. E. A. Allin of Morohead who was pastor of the church for a period, leaving Brainerd to seek further education in the Chicago Theological seminary next responded to the call of the chair.

There were many in the audience who knew Mr. Allin during his pastorate in Brainerd, and of the quartette which had helped the worship of the church during his sojourn here, all four members were present. He spoke of the kindly solicitation of the people who in many ways aided him during his ministry in Brainerd. Some of these references were amusing and the audiense laughed heartily.

Since leaving Brainerd Rev. E. A. Allin has had churches at Harvey, Illinois, in Chicago, Illinois, and he was for some time at the head of the Twin city union, and organization of all the Congregational churches in Minneapolis and St. Paul. From this leadership of the churches in the Twin Cities he went to Moorhead where his work has been very successful.

When Mr. Allin had concluded, the pastor read a letter from Rev. George Phil. Sheridan of Faribault in which he expressed his regret at not being able to be present because of the pressure of work at Faribault during this week. He congratulated the church on its achievement.

Geo. D. LaBar then reported for the building committee. The report was listened to in rapt silence but at its conclusion those present applauded. This report showed that the improvements have cost around $17,000, and there followed a carefully worked out plan whereby the balance could be fully cared for within two years.

Mrs. A. C. Weber moved a vote of thanks to the one who had made the report and this was expressed by a rising vote.

Judge Walter F. Wieland moved that the report be adopted and the plan as outlined put into effect. This motion was carried without a dissentient vote.

The meeting came to an end with the singing of "America" in which the audience was led by S. F. Alderman and E. O. Webb.

C. A. Allbright acted as auctioneer at a sale of goods left over from the Christmas sale and over $70 was realized as a result of the clever manner in which the salesman advertised his wares.

While the sale was progressing, E. O. Webb was talking over old times with Dr. Beard and later in the evening C. D. Johnson recalled many things of interest as Dr. Beard and he recounted experiences of earlier days in the sanctum at the parsonage.

The people who assembled last evening took the opportunity of looking over the building and were delighted by what they saw. Many complimentary things were said about the building committee and those who did the work of reconstruction. C. B. White who was the director of the work came in for mention at the tables and the names of the others were frequently heard. The hauling and the grading was done by John Ethen; the basement cement work by Thompson Brothers and Julius Clausen; the sidewalks were put in by Thompson Brothers; the outside painting was done by F. H. McCaffrey; the brickwork by Ben. Samuelson. The lumber was supplied by the Mahlum Lumber Company and the Lakeside Lumber Company; the millwork was in the hands of the Kampmann & Son sash and door factory; the windows which have been admired by all who have seen them were supplied by St. Germain Brothers, Duluth; the interior decorating was in charge of C. C. Bowen who has done a beautiful piece of work. The fall are finished in stipple, the ceiling is panelled and the woodwork carries a cathedral oak finish, while the floors which are of oak are very well finished. The decorations have won much praise. The lighting was done by the Brainerd Electric Company which did all the wiring and placed all the fixtures. All who have spoken of the improvements have had something good to say about the pleasing effect produced by the new lighting fixtures. The building is heated by two furnaces supplied by the Brainerd Hardware Company and these are giving a most satisfactory account of themselves. The church is easily made and kept comfortable.

Committees are now at work attending to securing the necessary funds to take care of the whole program and before long the spaces of the auditorium will be filled with the swelling notes from a pipe organ.

As the speakers said on Thursday evening, the people of the First Congregational church are to be congratulated.

AMUSEMENTS

Murphy and Walker Win a New Triumph

Manager Hiller of the Lyceum Theatre is to be congratulated in having secured for the local screen so substantial and pleasing an entertainment as is furnished in "Play Square," a Fox film, which opened its engagement there yesterday.

PLAY SQUARE — WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION

The photoplay serves to introduce two of filmdom's newest stars, Edna Murphy ad Johnnie Walker—talented youngsters who, in this, their second starring venture, romped away to a full-sized hit. The story, which was written by Jack Strumwasser, is an especially inspiring and elevating one. It is woven of far more substantial texture than the average screen love story, and is packed with live action and the most wholesome brand of sentiment. "Play Square" is being shown again tonight.

At Lyceum Sunday

William Collier as a butler in "The Servant Question," should mean a great deal to the discriminating theatre-goer, and the many patrons of the Lyceum theatre will doubtless be delighted to know that this is to be the attraction at this popular place of amusement Sunday afternoon and night.

While Mr. Collier is the big shining light of this screen comedy, just as he is the outstanding figure of every stage production he has appeared in, he has nevertheless surrounded himself with the best of talent in the supporting cast. Of great interest is the fact that the next prominent role in "The Servant Question" is enacted by William Collier, Jr., or "Buster," as he is more familiarly called, and observant spectators will affirm, after seeing the youngster work, that he is a veritable "chip off the old block."

All Star Vaudeville Tonight at the New Park

The first number on the vaudeville bill at the New Park Theatre for this week are Morse & Clark, two men who are musical entertainers of sterling worth. They have an offering which they term, "An Artistic Vocal Episode," wherein they delight the ear with harmony singing, one of the members accompanying the other on the piano during the act. Morse & Clark are two well built chaps with magnetic personalities and utilize these qualities with their remarkable voices in putting over their numbers.

The second act are the Garrison Sisters in a novelty posing act, featuring the most perfect girl in the world. This act will indeed be interesting as well as a rare novelty for very few women are perfect.

In the third act we have Walker & Brown, two original colored people who have proved one of the biggest comedy hits of the year. Their act consists of talking, singing and dancing that more than pleases, and a rare treat is certainly in store for our patrons during this act.

The fourth and last act consist of Mowatt and Lynch who are a duo of excellent club jugglers who have made this act more than a gymnasium feature. They are the leading club juggling team of the theatrical world, having played two consecutive years in the east at all leading vaudeville theatres, this being their initial trip to the west.

"A Private Scandal" Photo Feature With Vaudeville

The sophisticated persons who sit in theatres and loudly tell "how it is done" are likely to be fooled when they see "A Private Scandal," the latest Realart picture now at the New Park Theatre.

"Those tears are the bunk—they come out of a glycerine dropper," one can hear the doubters say as May McAvoy and Kathlyn Williams engage in a very emotional and lacrimose scene in this hectic Hector Turnbull story.

But they're wrong, for these two actresses spent one whole afternoon just dissolved in tears, real ones, which they worked themselves up to.

Many of the screen stars find it necessary to resort to the glycerine for their tears. "I sometimes wish it wasn't so easy for me to cry," says the petite Miss McAvoy. "It just plays havoc with one's makeup."

All is not tears, however, in "A Private Scandal," the grippingly dramatic story of a little French refugee in America. There's many a smile there, too.

Musical Comedy at New Park Tomorrow

Something that all Brainerd has been looking for, is at last coming to the New Park theatre in the form of a peppy musical comedy, with a bevy of pretty chorus girls, who have made the show, the huge success that it is today. The Band Box Revue has a wonderful world wide reputation as being one of the rarest, cleanest and peppiest bits of entertainment offered on the stage of today, pleasing both young and old with their selections of songs and dances.

Do not miss this special phase in amusement, as it is something that everyone will enjoy as well as remember. This show will play Brainerd only one day, Sunday, December 11th, but there will be three shows given, the matinee at 2:15, and two shows in the evening at 7 and 9 o'clock.

Palmer Orchestra Supreme will play at all three shows and the patrons are certainly offered a treat in the line of some new and peppy musical numbers.

"The Chicken in the Case"

"The Chicken in the Case" with Owen Moore is another of his delightful comedy characterizations will be the feature photoplay attraction at the New Park theatre next Monday and Tuesday and the patrons of this theatre who will attend on these dates may safely anticipate a merry time. The story is one that has been constructed for comedy purposes only, and it would not be strange if it achieved as great a vogue as did 'Charley's Aunt" some years ago. It's all about a young man, who, in order to secure an inheritance, pretends he is married; the wife of his pal, Percy Jones, being "the chicken in the case." Efforts of the young man to keep up the deception and the strenuous efforts of his Aunt Sarah, who thinks the young couple are becoming estranged through a bold interloper, who is really the young wife's own husband, create a series of comedy situations that would bring a smile to the stolid face of the Sphinx.

Victor Heerman both wrote the story and directed the picture, and it is asserted that he has surpassed his previous efforts with Mr. Moore's recent comedy hit "The Poor Simp."

Broncho Riding in New Buck Jones Picture

FORMER PASTORS ROYALLY GREETED

a number of years he was the president of Fargo college.

At the conclusion of Dr. Beard's address the toastmaster read a card received from Leon E. Lum, in which he sent his best wishes to Dr. Beard and to those who were present at the dedication of the church in 1889.

Rev. E. A. Allin of Morohead who was pastor of the church for a period, leaving Brainerd to seek further education in the Chicago Theological seminary next responded to the call of the chair.

There were many in the audience who knew Mr. Allin during his pastorate in Brainerd, and of the quartette which had helped the worship of the church during his sojourn here, all four members were present. He spoke of the kindly solicitation of the people who in many ways aided him during his ministry in Brainerd. Some of these references were amusing and the audience laughed heartily.

Since leaving Brainerd Rev. E. A. Allin has had churches at Harvey, Illinois, in Chicago, Illinois, and he was for some time at the head of the Twin city union, and organization of all the Congregational churches in Minneapolis and St. Paul. From this leadership of the churches in the Twin Cities he went to Moorhead where his work has been very successful.

When Mr. Allin had concluded, the pastor read a letter from Rev. George Phil. Sheridan of Faribault in which he expressed his regret at not being able to be present because of the pressure of work at Faribault during this week. He congratulated the church on its achievement.

Geo. D. LaBar then reported for the building committee. The report was listened to in rapt silence but at its conclusion those present applauded. This report showed that the improvements have cost around $17,000, and there followed a carefully worked out plan whereby the balance could be fully cared for within two years.

Mrs. A. C. Weber moved a vote of thanks to the one who had made the report and this was expressed by a rising vote.

Judge Walter F. Wieland moved that the report be adopted and the plan as outlined put into effect. This motion was carried without a dissentient vote.

The meeting came to an end with the singing of "America" in which the audience was led by S. F. Alderman and E. O. Webb.

C. A. Allbright acted as auctioneer at a sale of goods left over from the Christmas sale and over $70 was realized as a result of the clever manner in which the salesman advertised his wares.

While the sale was progressing, E. O. Webb was talking over old times with Dr. Beard and later in the evening C. D. Johnson recalled many things of interest as Dr. Beard and he recounted experiences of earlier days in the sanctum at the parsonage.

The people who assembled last evening took the opportunity of looking over the building and were delighted by what they saw. Many complimentary things were said about the building committee and those who did the work of reconstruction. C. B. White who was the director of the work came in for mention at the tables and the names of the others were frequently heard. The hauling and the grading was done by John Ethen; the basement cement work by Thompson Brothers and Julius Clausen; the sidewalks were put in by Thompson Brothers; the outside painting was done by F. H. McCaffrey; the brickwork by Ben. Samuelson. The lumber was supplied by the Mahlum Lumber Company and the Lakeside Lumber Company; the millwork was in the hands of the Kampmann & Son sash and door factory; the windows which have been admired by all who have seen them were supplied by St. Germain Brothers, Duluth; the interior decorating was in charge of C. C. Bowen who has done a beautiful piece of work. The fall are finished in stipple, the ceiling is panelled and the woodwork carries a cathedral oak finish, while the floors which are of oak are very well finished. The decorations have won much praise. The lighting was done by the Brainerd Electric Company which did all the wiring and placed all the fixtures. All who have spoken of the improvements have had something good to say about the pleasing effect produced by the new lighting fixtures. The building is heated by two furnaces supplied by the Brainerd Hardware Company and these are giving a most satisfactory account of themselves. The church is easily made and kept comfortable.

Committees are now at work attending to securing the necessary funds to take care of the whole program and before long the spaces of the auditorium will be filled with the swelling notes from a pipe organ.

As the speakers said on Thursday evening, the people of the First Congregational church are to be congratulated.

Toonerville Trolley Comedy at New Park Monday and Tuesday

"The Skipper's Scheme", is one of the famous Toonerville Trolley comedies, which the people of Brainerd will undoubtedly remember as one of the cartoon features in the Minneapolis Tribune. This is certainly one of the most intensely enjoyable comedies to be screened this season, and is to be shown at the New Park theatre next Monday and Tuesday.
